1) OVERVIEW OF THE STRATEGIC PLANNING PROCESS

1a) Purpose

The purpose of the Strategic Plan is to assist the Agency in establishing priorities and to better serve the needs of the community. This Strategic Plan is flexible and practical and serves as a guide to implementing programs, evaluating the success of these programs, and making adjustments when necessary.

This Strategic Plan reflects the thoughts, feelings, ideas, and goals of the Agency's stakeholders and integrates them with the Agency's mission, vision, and core values. The development of the plan required much probing, discussion, and examination of the views of the Agency's leaders, customers, community partners, and other stakeholders.

This document represents the history and culmination of the strategic planning process. More important, however, will be the implementation of the plan over the coming four years. Implementation will include refining specific annual goals for each department and tracking their progress throughout the year until they are either completed or are deemed not relevant as the organization's needs change or external situations shift.

This plan provides a clear approach for the Agency to take in the coming years to help expand and enhance services to the low-income residents of Cayuga County and Seneca County in Central New York State.

1b) Process

The planning process began in Spring of 2010 and continued until Winter of 2012. Since February 2011, the process was led by Laurie A. Piccolo, Executive Director. A subcommittee was instrumental in reviewing the mission and vision statements and revising it, as needed. This committee included representation of staff from every department in the Agency. The subcommittee offered some draft revisions to the mission and vision statements and the full committee refined them and submitted them back to the full Agency for review/acceptance. The new mission statement received overwhelming support in the final staff survey in Fall of 2011.

1c) Evaluation

The Strategic Plan is a working document intended to reflect current needs and conditions of the Agency and community. The Plan will be reviewed three times per year, by Department Directors, the Board of Directors, and annually by the Executive Director and staff for relevancy. Revisions to the plan will be made as needed to reflect current needs and conditions; all changes will be summarized in appendices and incorporated directly into the Plan. The Agency will evaluate and record progress made toward implementation of the Plan quarterly.

3) ASSESSMENT OF NEEDS

3a) 2013 Needs Assessment

Every three years, Cayuga/Seneca Community Action Agency, Inc. conducts a Low Income Community Needs Assessment of Cayuga and Seneca Counties. Data is collected via survey and discussion from Agency customers, Agency staff, and partner agencies in the community. Data derived from the community assessment is analyzed and then used to develop programs to fill gaps in services.

The most recent Needs Assessment was completed in October 2013. Primary data was collected via survey from 338 Agency customers, 79 Agency staff, and 52 Human Service Agency partners. Secondary data was collected from the U.S. Census Bureau and other local and state government sources. Key findings are presented below.

Demographic Characteristics and Trends

- Population change in both counties has been minimal with Cayuga County showing no discernible change and Seneca County growing by about 3 percent.
- Both counties have slightly higher percentages of elderly than the state average; this population tends to have a high level of need compared to younger populations.
- Both counties have below average income levels for New York State, with lowest incomes evident in the city of Auburn and the village of Lodi.
- The percentage of the population residing below the poverty level is well above the average for counties in New York State. Over 30 percent of minorities in both counties reside in households with incomes below the poverty level.
- Infant mortality rates are higher in both counties compared to statewide as is the percent of low birth weights.
- The housing stock in both counties is old, with median age of 60+ years, having implications for housing quality, energy use and need for repairs.

Key Findings from Customer Surveys

- Program participants experience numerous problems, in particular financial issues (30 percent), family issues (28 percent), and loss of jobs (23 percent).

- A large number of families have to choose between eating and paying bills. Food represents 29% of a household's monthly budget, on average. Poor food choices result in high levels of obesity.
- Levels of homelessness, eviction and threatened eviction are high. Many indicate high utility bills, as well as housing in need of major or minor repairs.
- A large number of adults and children are disabled and behavioral problems continue to be an issue among children.
- Money, livable wage jobs, and affordable housing appear to be the most frequently mentioned needs.
- Most perceive the strength of their families to be in their strong family bonds and their support for each other.

Key Findings from Agency and Human Service Staff

- Human Services Agency and CSCAA staff respondents both see affordable housing, transportation and food/nutrition as the highest needs of the low income population. These needs have been exacerbated by increases in the cost of living as well as a poor local economy.
- Other needs that respondents believe particularly warrant attention include the need to address health and mental health issues, children's behavioral issues, affordable child care and education/literacy.
- Programs need to continue to build on the collaborative strengths of the community, as well as on parents' determination to improve their situations and those of their children.

Cross-Cutting Conclusions

Priority needs of the low-income population identified by CSCAA's 2013 Needs Assessment include the following:

- Financial Assistance. Financial problems were cited by 30 percent of program participants. Reported household income is typically under $18,000 per year, with over 40 percent at or below $12,000 a year. Nearly one-third indicated a decrease in income last year. Medicaid/Medicare and Food Stamps are programs used by a large percentage of this population. 34 percent of respondents indicate that they had to choose between purchasing essential food items and paying a bill necessary to meet their basic needs in the last year, and over one-third report that they accessed an emergency food pantry weekly or monthly, suggesting severe financial problems.

- Housing and Heat. Both counties have old housing stock, suggesting overall needs for weatherization and repair. As one of the highest needs stated by agency and staff respondents, affordable housing is one of the most important aspects that affect the low-income population. Over 40 percent of program participants indicate that their houses need minor repairs and 14 percent indicate they are in need of major repairs. Nearly one-third indicate that they have high heating bills; on average, those who pay for heat directly pay approximately 15% of their monthly income for heat.
- Transportation. Transportation was one of the most pressing needs identified by agency respondents and by staff respondents. Thirty-five percent of participants do not have regular access to an automobile and rely on rides with friends and family, bus, taxi and walking.
- Employment and Education. The need for employment and/or better income job opportunities was mentioned as a pressing need by agency and staff respondents. 27 percent of respondents indicate that one of their household members was unemployed and 23 percent indicated that job loss was a problem encountered during the last year. Nearly one-third of adult household members have not completed high school, making it even more difficult to find a well-paying job.
- Services for Children. Child care is indicated as a high need by both Agency and staff respondents with 87 percent of staff and 79 percent of Agency respondents indicating the need has increased dramatically over the last three years. Staff also identified increasing issues of child behavior, with 87 percent indicating that this issue has increased dramatically over the last 3 years. Children with special needs are also in need of service; 10 percent of children in respondent household have a diagnosed disability.
